CAPITAL OVER 350,000 DOLLARS, AND CONSTANTLY INCREASING. The Charter of this Company offers more favorable advantages to the farmer and others, than any Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in each, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one-eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a A varied experience of many years in this busi- member, and giving a small premium note, the insured saves nearly one-half of the amount charged feb 19-tf by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the ombination of the CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE. This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over seventy thou-sand dollars have been paid for losses. Having sand dollars have been paid for losses. Having increased our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospects of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States. All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually chosen by the insured and the Company.

MISCELLANEOUS READING. THE SIX PLEAS FOR A NEW DRESS. Tittlewinks wants another dress, and her lord protests. Now observe how she man-FIFTH ages:—she approaches with— Plea No. 1, namely, the Persuasive Plea. Oh, how hard he has to fight! She tells him how she loves him -smooths his hair, calls him a king-asks if he has the heart to deny her. If he says he has, she proceeds to-Plea No. 2, or the Destitute Plea. - She informs him of the fact that she has nothing to wear, and says a man is a brute who would not give his wife something to wear. That she is not fit to be seen. That people will cry shame on him. In vain he says that "beauty unaderned is adorned the most."

Plea No. 3, or the Pouting Plea,-This consists more of gesture than speech. She sits at the table with her little nose turned up, and her little eyes turned down. She eats little, (till he goes to business,) sighs often, and walks about the house like a bad tempered ghost. She speaks only to say "she knew it would be so," and "it served her just right." Should he dare to say "it did," she proceeds

Plea No. 4, or The Property Plea.-She politely asks for the little money she had when she was married. Certainly she can do what she wishes with her own. All her worldly goods consisted of a few worsted and knitting-pins; but these knitting-pins she always pokes in his eyes unless she conquers him before she gets to ples No. 4. Should 5 00 this fail, she proceeds to-

Plea No. 5 or The Comparative Plea. All her departed lovers are made to pass before the unhappy man, and he is compared with them one by one. If she had married Mr. Snooks-i. c. the coachman-she would have had a livery. If she had married Mr. Swizzle, she would have lived in style on Broad street. If she had married-in fact, anybody but her husband-she would have been treated like a human being. He, perhaps, becomes a little angry, and suggests if she had married Adam she would have dressed like Eve! But as she had married him, she must wear what he can give her. This rouses her temper, and she comes immediately to, Plea No. 6, or The Plea Conclusive .-Which consists of a threat to go to her mother, and many upbraidings that he brought her

Now, no man was ever able to stand all these pleas. He generally falls at No. 1, and only in extreme cases reached No. 6.
